

For this game engines project, i plan to make:

- A procedural generated planet system
- The player will be able to walk around the planets and travel between them
- I will use recursion for scenery generation
- The project will be a colourful experience and possibly include some music reaction.